Golden Z Club Founding Members Inducted

The newly-inducted Golden Z members. (See related article on page 4)

The Zonta Club of Midland, sponsor of Northwood University's Golden Z Club, witnessed the induction of the seven women who are the initial members of our local Golden Z. Carole Calvert-Baxter conducted the ceremony, which included confirmation of, and pledges from, the club's first officers: Brianna Reising, President; Laura Rhodes, VP; Chelsea Johnson, Secretary; and Elaina Radatz, Treasurer. The rest of the Golden Z membership includes Zoe Vann, Felicity Smith, and Michelle Geiser.

As Carole introduced the Golden Z members, she described them as smart, informed, and concerned women who are developing leadership skills by their commitment to Zonta's mission of service and advocacy. They serve their school and the community, promoting fellowship and understanding.

Carole thanked Cynthia Chilcote for initiating the establishment of Golden Z in Midland. Esther Williams assisted Cynthia in getting this charter club off the ground. Now, Megan Granda heads the Golden Z Committee and mentors the Northwood students as they enthusiastically embrace the ideals of Zonta and spread the word at the college level.

Following the presentation of yellow roses, Zonta pins, and the president's gavel, the new Golden Z president, Brianna Reising, thanked the Zonta membership for sponsoring their club and for their continued involvement and mentoring as the club moves forward. She announced that Golden Z will be sponsoring an event in conjunction with National Eating Disorders Awareness Week in memory of a CMU student who died from an eating disorder.

Generational Differences a Hot Topic

Dr. Todd Thomas presented a humorous, thought-provoking, informative look at the four generations found in the work force today. Dr. Thomas, a Northwood professor teaching in the MBA program in the Devos School of Management, kept the membership (which touches all 4 generations) fully engaged during his presentation at our dinner meeting on January 22. It was especially meaningful following the induction of the new Golden Z members, who represent Generation Y. (continued on page 3)

President's Message

Fellow Zontians:

I have been a proud member of Zonta since 2005. Shortly after I joined, all members were asked to share why they participate in Zonta. Their answers varied. Some people participate because they want to give back to the community, some because they want to be part of a worldwide movement to help women. Some people participate for the opportunity to interact with other women leaders in town, some for the opportunity to take on a leadership role in the community. For all of these collective reasons (and many more), we as individuals come together and provide the basis for an amazing organization – the Zonta Club of Midland.

I say all of this as the backdrop for the difficult issue we are facing with dues this year. Please believe me when I say that I wish we could continue operating as we always have and not change a thing. But the unfortunate reality is that this problem has existed for years and now we have to deal with it. As a board, we have tried very hard to develop options that address the funds issue while still preserving our core meeting structure... thereby allowing us to continue providing all of you with an avenue to meet all of those objectives listed above.

Unfortunately I am unable to attend the business meeting next week as I have to be in Philadelphia for work. In my absence, I would ask each of you to take time to really understand our dilemma and evaluate the options from a holistic point of view. In addition, I would ask you to think about what being a Zontian means to you and reflect on the positive impact we have on the community. And finally I would ask you to help us move past this difficult issue so that we can become an even stronger, more effective club going forward.

Thanks for listening.

Cathy Budd

Warning his audience that he could speak for hours on this subject, Dr. Thomas began by naming the generations and describing their make-up and the forces that formed their characteristics:

TRADITIONALS	BOOMERS	GEN X	GEN Y
Only 5% of the work force	38% of work force	32% of workforce	25% of workforce
68 years or older	Aged 49-67	Aged 33-48	Aged 13-32
Known as the "silent generation"	Generation with largest numbers	Far fewer people than in the Boomer bracket	Largest employee group since Boomers
Grew up in the Great Depression	Prioritize work over personal life	More independent that previous generations	Largest consumer group today
WWII and Korean Wars	Assassinations of Kennedy brothers, Martin Luther King, Malcolm X	Fall of Berlin Wall; Watergate; AIDS	Global-centric and tech savvy; can work from anywhere at any time
Tupperware invented	Vietnam War / Cold War	Desert Storm	Defining moment: 9/11
"Doing the right thing"	Civil Rights Movement and Sexual Revolution	Women's Movement	Grew up with: end of Cold War, Afghanistan and Iraq Wars, Katrina, global warming
Very patriotic	"Me" generation: individual achievement and recognition	Introduced idea of life balance; no distinction between work & life	Understand and live unpredictably and spontaneously
Valued hierarchy	63% plan to work longer due to 2008 recession	Known as "slackers" by Boomers	"Cocoon" level of parental attention
Not looking for promotions or advancement	Optimistic, competitive, personal growth	Diversity, tech-literate, fun, efficient	Value connectedness, open source (very few "things" are proprietary), speed, civic duty, independence
	Suburbs invented; had to keep up with the Joneses	Grew up with TV, nuclear threat, dual career parents

He explained that in a recent survey, 68% of Boomers agreed that poor work ethics of younger generations creates more work for Boomers. 32% of Gen Xers agreed, not realizing that the Boomers were talking about them. 13% of Gen Ys feel they have strong work ethics.

Despite the differences, when asked about priorities and values in the workplace, the top three responses from all groups are the same:

- 1. Work has to have purpose and is important in a way I understand.
- 2. I'm treated fairly and equitably to those around me and valued as a member of the team.
- 3. I'm recognized and rewarded for my contributions.

Employers need to bridge the gap among the generations by appreciating the differences while acknowledging their interdependency.

How do employers and coworkers span the gaps and create a harmonious workplace? Dr. Thomas explained that knowing what drives each group and what they value is a good start. Here's a breakdown of what's important to each generation:

- Traditionals: Honor the chain of command; value their experience; communicate one on one; appreciate their dedication; and value the legacy they built.
- Boomers: Show respect; communicate face-to-face; give people full attention; play the game; learn the corporate history.
- Gen X: Get to the point; use email; give them space; get over notion of dues paying; lighten up.
- Gen Y: Challenge them; ask their opinion; help them find mentors; provide timely feedback; lighten up.

Dr. Thomas highlighted the strengths of each generation and how those strengths benefit the other generations. "When it comes to a generation, a major impact is the generation that raised us." We all look through our own generation's lenses and need to create solutions that fit individuals.

A question and answer session followed the presentation leading to the following comments:

- While the Gen X and Y generations may not be as outwardly patriotic as older generations, Dr. Thomas said, "The patriotism is there, but it looks different and is defined differently."
- Junia Doan observed that younger generations look forward to challenges because the "fear of failure" has been removed. They are willing to try and fail and try again.

March Dinner Meeting Speaker—Helping Us Stay Sharp

"Simple Solutions for Staying Sharp," developed by Brainworks, is the topic for the March 2014 dinner meeting. The Board of Directors selected this topic from several program options proposed by Megan Granda. Jim Wiaduck with the Advisor Solutions Group at Janus will be presenting the program developed by Dr. Heidi Hanna.

The promotional material about this presentation states, "Daily mental multitasking and our constant state of "busyness" can create a chronic level of stress on our brain, causing us to be unfocused, distracted, and less productive. What's more, research suggests that age-related cognitive decline—characterized by a decrease in the brain's ability to perform regular functions like judgment, reasoning, memory, learning and language—begins in healthy, educated adults in their 20s and 30s."

The program will present ways to increase brain fitness, mental acuity, and retention while reducing brain stress. Sign me up!

Homewalk 2013 Results = 10 Scholarships!

Ann Beck, lead chair of the 2013 Homewalk Committee, presented the final results at the January business meeting. Another successful event is in the books!

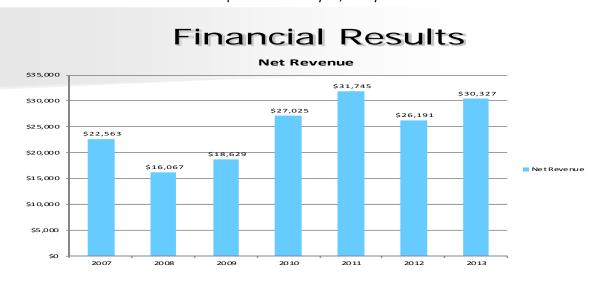

Ann reviewed attendance numbers, which were about 100 less than last year. The home with the most traffic was the Genrich Street home on Sanford Lake. (It had the upsidedown Christmas tree!)

She thanked the committee members who worked tirelessly to make this a successful event:

- Co-chair, Elizabeth Lumbert, who stepped in at the last moment to recruit new homeowners when 2 others dropped out in mid-July;
- Sue Moody, past chair, for charming the Weinert's into putting their home on the walk;
- The Sponsorship subcommittee: Denise Avery, Megan Granda, Kathy Swarthout, Janine Ouderkirk and Sandy Weiver, who raised $23,200 in sponsorships that go directly to our scholarships;
- Karla Oldenburg for keeping everyone in line financially;
- Sharon Mortensen and Lisa Hulbert who served as homeowner liaisons with decorators;
- Sandy Weimer for the homeowner gifts, safety instructions, maps, and serving as historian;
- Patty Aspin for the write-ups on each home;
- Elizabeth Lumbert and Jennifer Chappel who publicized the event;
- Esther Williams for coordinating all the volunteers and the supplies needed at each location;
- Melissa Anderson who provided us with our new fabulous look and put up with all the last-minute edits;
- Carol Arnosky and Linda Goltz who coordinated ticket sales;
- Carole Calvert-Baxter who coordinated and ran the Rest Stop on both days;
- Kathy Allen for stepping in and arranging the shuttle transportation for the Julie Ann home;
- Linda Malekadeli who opened her home to us for the Afterglow party.

Several members sold more than the required six tickets and their names went into a bowl for each extra ticket sold. The biggest ticket sellers were Cathy Budd with 31, followed by Elizabeth Lumbert with 20, Sharon Mortensen with 14, and Maureen Acker with 13. Fourteen other members sold more than their allotted number. With all these names in the bowl, who won the gift basket? Sue Moody, that's who!

Ann expressed her gratitude to the entire club for making it possible to give out 10 scholarships this year and have plenty left over to serve our local service requests. "Thank you, everyone!"

Meet the Charter Members of Golden Z

Michelle Geiser, freshman, is an Entertainment Sports Promotion Management (ESPM)/Marketing major from Marine City/Croswell, Michigan, with plans for working in public relations for a large company or as an event planner in the sports industry. "Community service not only helps me become more involved

"Community service not only helps me become more involved within the community, but it also helps me grow into a better leader and with that I plan on improving my skills in the business world," says Michelle.

Chelsea Johnson is a freshman majoring in Hospitality from Alpena, Michigan. After graduating, she plans to work for a five-star hotel, country club, or resort in planning/organizing the events for the establishment.

"I was blessed growing up in a great community; I believe in paying it forward. We can only better our tomorrow, and we can do that by giving back through service," says Chelsea.

Elaina Radatz, from Sandusky, Ohio, is a junior in Entertainment Sports Promotion Management (ESPM). Currently in the Air Force National Guard, Elaina leaves for basic training this summer. Her job in the Air Force is in supply logistics, so she will get hands-on experience using her business degree. Next fall, she hopes to get even more experience in the sports industry with a practicum.

Elaina says, "Community service is important to me because I will be serving my country and volunteering when needed."

Brianna Reising is a junior in Advertising/Marketing from Cincinnati, Ohio. She plans to go from college into the Peace Corps, then on to graduate school in Business Administration. Eventually Brianna plans a career in copywriting for an advertising agency.

"I hope to someday use my career skills to make an impact in the world through service and leadership," says Brianna. "I get my happiness from making others happy!"

Laura Rhodes, a freshman from Garden City, Michigan, is majoring in Entrepreneurship with a minor in Hospitality. She plans on opening her own 50's/retro-style bakery after graduating from Northwood University and completing an associate's degree in Culinary Arts.

"Community service and volunteering are very important to me because I believe strongly in using my talents and heart to help people and animals in need that are around me," says Laura. "There is no better feeling in my heart than putting a smile on someone's face. I agree with Mohammed Ali who said that, 'Service to others is the payment you make for your space here on earth.'"

Felicity Smith is a junior in Management from Alpena, Michigan. She plans on opening her own restaurant after college. Felicity says, "I love the feeling of giving back to the community and the ability to put a smile on someone else's face."

Zoë Vann, a senior from Waterford, Connecticut, is a Hotel, Restaurant & Resort Management major. She plans to pursue a career in event management and planning. Zoë is currently the Facilities and Events student manager for Northwood University and believes this experience, in addition to her experience in catering and banquets, will help her reach her goal. Zoë points to Bessie Anderson Stanley to sum up her feelings on community service: "To know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived – this is to have succeeded."

Chocolate-Covered ZING!

Have you ever considered chocolate with chicken? What about a chocolate martini? Those were just two of the many chocolate-related foods and drinks served up at the ZING at Scrapbooks Galore & More on Thursday, January 30th. Hosted by Carol Arnosky, the ZING featured Zonta's own Dove Chocolatier, Pam Nagel. Pam prepared several chocolate dishes including chicken tacos made with a savory chocolate rub and infused with Dove's roasted chipotle chocolate sauce.

We learned that chocolate isn't just for candy!

Fifteen participants enjoyed many, many samples of the different and unique Pam Nagel, Chocolatier Dove products available from Pam. As candies and sauces were passed around,

Pam explained how to use Dove in just about any recipe. She said that the ease of using Dove chocolate products allows you to "impress without stress."

Pam announced that she'd be donating a chocolate gift to the Zonta Auction that includes this pretty gift box that holds 2 Dove chocolate bars and chocolate mousse mix. She gave everyone the recipe for creating a decadent dessert in just a few minutes using the contents in the box.

> After Pam's presentation and meal, Carol and her co-worker, Diane, showed everyone how to make cute Valentine cards for that someone special. Using supplies provided by

> Susan Hammer, Michele Atwell, and Cynthia Chilcote sampling unique chocolate dishes.

Senate Approves Human Trafficking Bills

Posted on December 12, 2013 by Senator Judy Emmons

LANSING—Legislation sponsored by Sens. Judy Emmons and Mark C. Jansen to support victims of human trafficking and punish offenders was approved on Thursday by the Michigan Senate.

Emmons' bill, Senate Bill 584, would eliminate the statute of limitations for any human trafficking or commercial sexual exploitation of children offenses. The bill is named the Theresa Flores Act in honor of Theresa Flores, a Michigan native and the author of The Slave Across the Street, her personal story about how she overcame human trafficking. "The Michigan Senate is taking a leading role in fighting human trafficking — a crime that devastates the lives of thousands of women and children in our state every year," said Emmons, R-Sheridan. "Theresa's compelling story about being trafficked in Michigan as a young woman is alarming and one of the reasons that I have dedicated myself to doing everything I can to end this modern-day slavery."

Flores joined Emmons in announcing the bill as part of a 19-bill, bipartisan package addressing human trafficking in Michigan, including increasing penalties, training and victim support. "Human trafficking is the second-leading crime in Michigan, and I know this because I was trafficked here over 30 years ago," said Flores at the announcement. "Thank you to strong leaders like Senator Emmons, who say 'we refuse to let this happen in our state.'"

The Senate also adopted a resolution sponsored by Emmons to designate Jan. 11, 2014 as Human Trafficking Awareness Day in Michigan. "As the point person in the Senate on human trafficking, I know that while we are approving initiatives for new laws and victim support, the battle against this crime all starts with public awareness," Emmons said. "Human Trafficking is the world's fastest-growing criminal industry and it is a problem that requires a comprehensive solution. We need more legal tools, but we also need everyone — from first responders to our neighbors — to understand the problem, how to recognize it and what they can do to stop it."

Under Jansen's measure, SB 588, a human trafficking victim who is being prosecuted for prostitution would be allowed to introduce evidence of their experience as an affirmative defense, if the crime was committed as a result of having been trafficked. "As a father, it sickens me to think that thousands of girls under the age of 18 are sold into the world of sex trafficking every year in Michigan and that 80 percent of human trafficking victims are sexually exploited," said Jansen, R-Gaines Township. "My bill recognizes that many times victims are arrested for crimes that were committed as a direct result of human trafficking. Allowing an affirmative defense is about being compassionate for victims, stopping the practice of punishing them for their ordeal and helping them begin the process of overcoming their terrible experience."

A third measure approved by the Senate, SB 591, sponsored by Sen. John Proos, R-St. Joseph, would give victims an opportunity for a hearing where a judge could clear convictions from their record if the offenses were committed as a result of being trafficked.

SBs 584, 588 and 591 have been sent to the House of Representatives for consideration.

Zonta Club of Midland Business Meeting Minutes - Proposed

Tuesday, January 7, 2014

The meeting was called to order at 12:00 p.m. by Zonta President, Cathy Budd. The meeting began with the Zonta blessing and introductions.

Secretary's Report. Cathy Budd. Approved November meeting minutes. Moved by Ann Beck and supported by Colette St Louis.

Treasurer's Report. Karla Oldenburg. The treasures report was reviewed. Approved treasurer's report. Moved by Ann Beck and supported Debbie Stephens.

Homewalk Report - Ann Beck

Thanks to all committee members, volunteers and members for all of the hard work, including selling tickets and hostessing. Two-day attendance at the homes ranged from 623 (Revere St.) to 901 (Genrich house in Sanford). The average was 818 for both days and compares to 914 last year. Total attendance was down about 100 people this year from 2012.

Net revenues from the event were $30,327 compared to 2012's $26,191; and we will have $10,000-$11,000 for service. Total ticket sales were $14,476.

2014/15 Budget - Sharon Mortensen

Budget goals – keep dues reasonable, separate meal and dues costs, and ensure a healthy balance across all funds.

Sharon reviewed the four funds and their expenses and revenue sources. Our expenses have been exceeding costs. The Finance committee proposes charging $160/yr for dues to cover committee spending, ZI dues, and District 15 dues. Under this plan, members would pay separately for meals at the meeting by cash or check - $15 for lunch, $25 for dinner; the difference would go toward Golden Z meal costs.

Advocacy. Debbie Stephens. January is Human Trafficking Month – let's keep that focus going. Event called One Billion Rising is slated for Feb  $14^{th}$  – discussions with Shelterhouse on ways to collaboratively celebrate. This is a global campaign to focus on violence against women.

We were contacted through our website by Meridian High about their upcoming Mon. Jan 13th event with speakers and discussions on promoting non violence in classroom, the importance of community and the importance of peace in community. They are asking for participation.

ARR. Lisa Hulbert. This committee meets following this lunch meeting. The next ZING will be the Feb. Tennis Classic event.

Archives. Esther Seaver. No report.

Attendance. Harriet Stopyak. Next meeting is at country club.

Bylaws. Sharon Mortensen. No report.

Fellowship/Awards. Lisa Miner. No report.

Finance/Fundraising. Sharon Mortensen. No report

Homewalk. Ann Beck & Elizabeth Lumbert. Report above.

Intercity/United Nations. Kathy Swarthout. We are sponsoring this year's Intercity Dinner. Flyers are on the tables. Mickey Mouse is the theme and is based on the convention coming up in Orlando. Event will be at the MCFTA with a cash bar and food stations.

Organization, Membership & Classification. Bridget Sadenwater. New members were introduced. Next lunch meeting is an induction ceremony. New member orientation will be Tuesday, Jan 28th at Lisa Hulbert's home.

Parliamentarian. Esther Seaver. No report.

Golden Z Club. Megan Granda. The chartering ceremony for the new club will be held at the January meeting. The committee is seeking sponsorship of the Golden Z members to offset the cost of their dinners. Watch for an email.

Nominating/Immediate Past President. Diane Moomey.

Public Relations/Communications. Colette St. Louis No report.

Service/Legislation & Advocacy. Michelle Atwell. Maria Cohoon announced the Dessert Party coming up on March 4th. More to come.

Ways & Means. Ann Beck. Drop April auction donations at Sandy's car before or after meetings. We will be taking up a collection at the dinner meeting for a prize basket for the Intercity Dinner.
