What Happened to Upcoming Events?

The last two pages of the newsletter are calendars for the next two months and they replace the list that usually appears in this section. They provide a more visual presentation of what we've got going on in the near future as well as the birthdays that occur in those months. One-stop shopping!

President's Message from Cynthia Chilcote

Leadership can seem overwhelming. I have been following the work of a case in point, our U.S. Ambassador-at-large, Global Women's Issues, Melanne Vermeer. In addition to her work with the State Department, she runs a non-profit called Vital Voices which invests in emerging women leaders (sound familiar?). Prior to that, she served as chief-of-staff to First Lady, Hilary Clinton, and led the effort to establish the President's Interagency Council on Women, and the list goes on.

I also follow the blogging of Dave Ursillo, author of Lead Without Followers, who's focus is on the personal decision to lead and keeping leadership realistic.

Last week Ursillo described his favorite punctuation, the asterisk, used so sparingly in print, and how it conveys so much: an exception to the rule, an outlier, an exceptional point for follow up. He encouraged each of us to be an asterisk by cultivating our own very personal sense of leadership: discovering what matters to us most; practicing standing up and standing out when our hearts call out to us.

Ursillo assures us that all it takes to be an asterisk is a little attention, some willpower, and placing an asterisk next to the tasks, duties, and passions that sing to our souls. As members of Zonta, you have already made the decision to help and serve other women. You have already placed an asterisk next to Zonta. Now go the next step; revisit that personal inventory. We are looking for leaders for the upcoming year in Zonta. This is an opportunity for you to become an asterisk; to stand up and stand out for what your heart believes. Whether you are asked to serve or you are moved to nominate yourself or a friend, you can choose a leadership role with personal meaning for you; for a cause that, I hope, "sings to your soul."

I encourage each of you to contact the Nominations Committee Chair, Esther Seaver, and expand your leadership journey with Zonta this year.

We've Got a Birthday Comin' Up !

The Zonta Club of Midland will celebrate its 65th birthday on June 5, 2012 at our luncheon meeting. On June 5, 1947 our Midland Zonta Club was chartered in a ceremony in the old Midland Country Club building. We will be celebrating 65 years to the day! Stay tuned for information about the party.

taking up Yoga. Running, biking, and weight-lifting round out Tammy's exercise regime. She is looking forward to being active in our community through her Zonta membership. Tammy was sponsored by Kathy Dollard.

Megan Granda just moved to Midland last August. She is a financial advisor with Ameriprise Financial where she has been employed for the past 8-1/2 years, primarily in the Farmington Hills area. She helps clients with financial advice and goal tracking as well as showing them how to diversify and manage their investments. Megan is originally from Reading, Michigan, and has been married to her husband, Tim, for 3-1/2 years. Their family so far consists of Chloe the cat and Indy the dog. Esther Seaver sponsored Megan.

Elizabeth Lumbert has 19 years of public garden experience with Dow Gardens where she serves as the Assistant Director. She coordinates marketing, volunteer programs, and special events. She is also the marketing contractor for Shelterhouse and writes their monthly e-newsletter and maintains their website and Facebook page. Elizabeth has a special passion for volunteering each year as a camp counselor at Camp Warm Hearts, a camp for children who are grieving. She is now a Big Sister to one of the children she met at camp. Elizabeth is a trustee for the Midland Area Community Foundation, serves on the Reece Endeavor Garden Walk Committee, the Leadership Midland steering team, and the Board of Directors of Big Brothers Big Sisters in the Heart of Michigan. She was sponsored by Sharon Mortensen.

Cindy Vickery works at the Midland Community Tennis Center and serves as a team leader and Director of Leagues. She is an avid tennis player, but loves to run even more. She enjoys long distance trail running and spends hours each week running in the woods. Cindy has been married to her husband, Dave, for 21 years and they have two children: Allison, a senior at Dow High, and Matthew, an 8th grader at Jefferson. Lisa Hulbert is her sponsor.

Alisha Toyzan works for McKay Press as part of the Leadership Development Program which trains future senior managers over a three-year period. She sings in her church choir and is a member of the Midland Chorale. Alisha is also an avid runner and reader. She is married and has three Pembroke Welsh Corgis. Alisha was sponsored by Cynthia Chilcote.

The Zonta Club of Midland is fortunate to have such dynamic, enthusiastic women join our ranks. Please introduce yourselves at upcoming meetings and get to know them better.

Recognize This Vehicle?

Yes, this is Sandy's Auction Auto that's just waiting to be filled with fabulous treasures from your closets, cupboards, and cubbyholes. It will be sitting front and center at the Country Club on meeting days.

You can bring your auction items to the meetings or you can drop them off at Sandy's house. Remember that Sandy moved, so don't drop them on the same porch you used last year!

Rumor has it that Trudy Grimason, the auctioneer, will once again provide one or two fur coats. Let's add a lot of our own special items so we have a fantastic auction to support our programs!

Empowering Women in Cambodia

Marie Eckstein, retired Vice-president and Chief Administrative Officer for Dow Corning and now a member of the Harpswell Foundation Advisory Board, gave a powerful presentation at the January dinner meeting. She described her visit to Cambodia in the Spring of 2011 and explained the purpose of the Harpswell Foundation in empowering a new generation of women leaders in Cambodia.

Marie explained the history of Cambodia. In 1975 the Khmer Rouge exterminated 25% of the population. They evacuated 2 million people in 7 days from Phnom Penh. They killed anyone who had an education, including doctors, teachers, and businessmen. In their four-year reign of terror, they destroyed the infrastructure of Cambodia.

Today, Cambodia is 90% rural with a per capita income of $500/year. There are two industries: agriculture and the garment industry. One third of women between 16 and 22 work in the garment industry and grow old before their time. However, it's the only respectable job available for the women who are sent into the city to earn cash for the farms. One out of forty girls is sold into prostitution. It's estimated that only 5% of the population will have a college education by 2015.

The Harpswell Foundation's main focus is to encourage and support the best and brightest young women in Cambodia. They've built two dormitories that house 88 girls so they have a place to live when they go to school. Otherwise, they would not go or would live in deplorable conditions. Veasna Chea was one of those girls who went to school before the dormitories were built. She lived in a crawl space of a building with 3 other women when she went to law school.

The dormitories house the Leadership Center for Women in Phnom Penh. Selection of students is based on the smartest 4 females in each of 40 high schools. They are asked, "What do you want to do with your life after you graduate from university?" Only those that answer with a response related to an ambition to change the country are chosen. There are in-house classes in English, computers, leadership, and national and international events that supplement the education they're receiving at one of the universities. One of the first things they learn when they first arrive is how to use indoor plumbing.

The Harpswell Foundation also supports women's efforts in a small village north of Phnom Penh to create a custom sewing business. They want to encourage women in the village to develop cottage industries so they don't end up in the garment industry in the city. Marie had a table displaying several handmade items with intricate beadwork and unique designs. She is working on establishing a marketing chain and Greta Bolger is the first customer. Several Zontians made purchases like Ann Beck, who models a beaded scarf/shawl.

The foundation is funded by individual donations only and uses $325,000/year to fund Cambodia projects.

More information can be found at harpswellfoundation.org as well as on Marie's blog site, Nortoneckstein.wordpress.com.

Record-breaking Homewalk 2011 Results

Cathy Budd presented a summary of the 2011 Homewalk at the business meeting in January. The most successful Homewalk in recent history saw sponsorships rise dramatically, the greatest amount of traffic in the smallest home, and all this despite a less-than-stellar weather weekend.

The financial results are shown in the chart to the right with the details spelled out in the subsequent box. Cathy credited the success of the sponsorship growth to the addition of the "Scholar's Champion" level. She added that even though our membership is lower this year, ticket sales were slightly above last year because so many members sold more than their original six tickets. Raffle ticket sales jumped in 2011, too, which also contributed to our successful season.

The Homewalk Committee did a fantastic job making this a most successful event and the membership came through with ticket sales, volunteers, and hostess time. Thanks to total club involvement in this event, scholarship recipients will benefit.

Cathy's final presentation slide said it all:

2011 Homewalk was a Huge Success!

Thanks for all of your help!

Check out the full report on our club website: www.zontaclubofmidland.org.

Member Highlight: Paula Ulmer

Paula (Hooker) Ulmer was born, educated, married and raised a family in Midland. Her mother, Dorothea Smith Hooker, and maternal grandfather, Roy Parley Smith, were also native Midlanders. Her father, Millard Hooker, started the Advertising Department at Dow Chemical Company in the 1930's. He retired in the 1970's as its Creative Director. During his career, which included advertising and internal communications, he earned an international award for his "Life is Fragile" safety campaign .

Paula graduated from Midland High School in 1955 and attended Michigan State University and Johns Hopkins Hospital School of Nursing. She completed her education at Northwood University on the Texas campus in 1992 and received her master's degree at Southern Methodist University in Dallas in 1995.

Paula began her career with Northwood University in the early 1960's as a volunteer, becoming a full time employee in 1980 (with Nancy Barker as her first "boss"). She served on several Midland Center for the Arts boards. In the 1970's she contributed feature articles and concert critiques to area newspapers and was an advertising copywriter and producer of commercials for mid-Michigan radio and TV stations.

She produced and hosted "The Paula Ulmer Show," a weekly cable TV and radio show in cooperation with the Midland Center for the Arts. In 1971 she received Northwood's Distinguished Women's Award.

As a singer/actress, Paula performed in theatre in "The Mousetrap." She played the title role in "Hello Dolly" in 1980 and sang in choral concert productions in Midland and Texas. In 1983 she transferred to Dallas, Texas to coordinate Northwood's National Arts Programs, which include the Musical Theatre Studio professional training program, Arts & Business Conferences, and Corporate Art Tours.

Returning home to Midland, Paula continued to work at Northwood as an administrator and adjunct faculty. She tried to retire in her 26th year at Northwood, but flat out flunked retirement. She is still there today, teaching Humanities courses and working in the Registrar's office.

In addition to Zonta, Paula is a member of Contemporary Review Club, The 100 Club, Midland Chorale, and serves on the Big Brothers Big Sisters Heart of Michigan board. She has three daughters, Linda (Ulmer) Snell, Helen (Ulmer) Kressler, and Nancy (Ulmer) Bernstein, and grandson, River George Kressler.
