ZCoM Honored at International Convention

Torino 2012 bag with multiple pins attached.

Diane Moomey, Cathy Budd, and Sandy Weimer represented the Zonta Club of Midland at the 2012 Zonta International Convention in Torino, Italy. They shared their experiences with ZCoM members and guests at the dinner meeting on September 18th. A presentation provided a glimpse into the fun, friendships, family, food, flags, formalities, and foundation-funded focus that was ZI 2012.

A highlight of the convention was the unexpected announcement that the Zonta Club of Midland was one of only 15 clubs world-wide recognized for the amount of money donated to the ZI Foundation. Diane was called up on stage to receive an engraved clock/plaque honoring our achievement.

Diane and her mother participated in the Zonta Pre-Tour the week preceding the convention. They and 36 other Zontians traveled by bus around Italy creating memories and forming friendships. For future ZI travelers, Diane highly recommends taking the pre-tour if offered. It provides a wonderful opportunity to really get to know women from all over the world while visiting beautiful and historic sites. With this background, you go into the convention as a group rather than just one or two among thousands.

Zonta International Foundation award presented to our club.

The convention was packed with sessions, bylaws updates, issues that required voting, and an outline for the future direction of Zonta. Cathy Budd addressed the changes to the bylaws by preparing a draft of the updates we needed to make to comply with ZI. The changes were voted in at the dinner meeting.

Of the four 2012-2014 biennial goals, "Credibility and Visibility" is one we, at the local level, can adopt and advance. Increasing public awareness of what Zonta is and does is something each member can do.

Cathy Budd, Linda Dufseth (Sandy's sister), Sandy Weimer, Diane Moomey and her mother, Pauline Pittsley.

President's Message from Diane Moomey

Fall is here. We are back to school, back to work and back to Zonta! Cathy Budd and I attended the Zonta International Convention in Torino, Italy, in July. While we were there, we learned so much about Zonta International and met so many interesting international Zonta women. We came home fired up and proud about international, our global projects and the people those projects serve.

As I put together the presentation for our September dinner, I realized that I have already started to forget that feeling I had when I returned. I came home from Italy and went right back to my family, friends and work and with so much to do, have quickly gotten back into my regular routine. I've already forgotten some names of the amazing women I met and their stories. I already don't remember all of the details of the stories I heard about their local Zonta clubs and the stories about their lives and the status of the women in their own countries. Those feelings of being so excited to share the awesome things that Zonta does with family, friends and coworkers, to work harder on being involved with international projects, to grow our club membership ... they've all started to take a place behind other priorities.

We all do this. We all are excited to be a part of what Zonta does locally and worldwide. We all want to share with our friends and family the great things that we are a part of. We all want to shout from the rooftops, "hey wake up, there are women out there who need our help." We all want to attract more members to our club so that we can share our excitement and do even more great things. But we all have those routine daily habits that take over the forefront and make us forget just a little.

Denise Quarles Elected to ZI Board of Directors

District 15's former governor, Denise Quarles, was elected to the Zonta International Board of Directors at the recent convention in Torino, Italy. She is also on the Zonta International Foundation Board. The Boards provide financial oversight, set policy and ensure the implementation of the goals, service projects and programs.

Denise is a retired Regional Prisons Administrator for the Michigan Department of Corrections. She served the State of Michigan for 31 years, the last 9 years as Administrator responsible for the oversight of 17 prisons.

From Denise's comments on the ZI website: "Due to my experience, I am very organized, analytical, able to work within a large organization, to handle many matters simultaneously, and I'm skilled at policy and procedure development. These attributes have served me well while serving on the boards of several organizations." In addition, her goals as a board member support the Credibility and Visibility goal presented at the ZI convention. "Maintaining a healthy and vibrant organization is essential for advancing the objects of Zonta. Due to the continued loss of membership, my primary goal is strengthening the organization through public visibility, membership growth and viable clubs."

There will be a reception for Denise at the Country Club of Lansing on October 6 from 12:30-2:30 celebrating her continuing contributions to Zonta.

Member Highlight: Elizabeth Lumbert

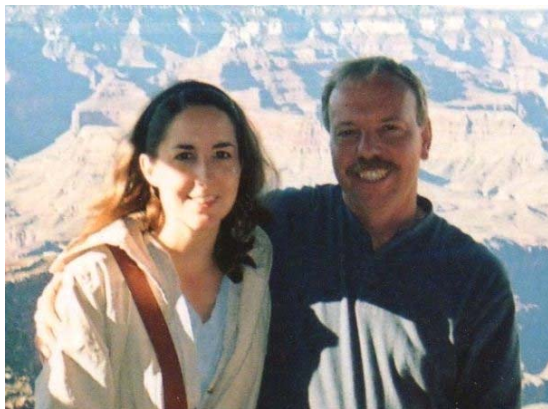

I have loved the different seasons of Michigan for as long as I can remember. I was born and raised in Midland with a brief stint in Belgium (where I graduated from Brussels Sprouts Nursery School). During the work day, you'll find me at Dow Gardens where I currently serve as the Assistant Director. It's an amazingly beautiful place to work full of challenges and opportunities that change with the seasons.

Many of you will already know that I was widowed young. I look back to that year and still feel a bit in awe of it. I had graduated from MSU and married my high school sweetheart Kevin Chaussee. As far as I was concerned life was right on plan. Just shy of eight years of marriage Kevin was diagnosed with stage four colon cancer. After an intense eleven month battle where we never gave up hope; we lost horribly. The world lost an amazing guy and I love to share stories about him. I have never felt more passionate about anything as when I was fighting to save him. I discovered that you can tap into an undefinable amount of courage when you love someone.

Who I am now is intertwined with rising to the challenge of being a young widow. When Kevin died, it was a time of extreme grief and deep reflection. I consciously and determinedly chose to "go on and be happy" rather than to just "go on." I continued to work at Dow Gardens and went back to school and earned my MBA from Northwood University. Today, I'm married to a great guy, Keith Lumbert. He helped me finish the home that Kevin and I were building. Together we took the boards from trees that Kevin had felled and turned them into flooring and trim. Keith gave me space to grieve and became my best friend. While I never had children of my own, I'm now a full-fledged Grandma to four wonderful little girls thanks to Keith's two amazing daughters. I have a cookie baking drawer in my kitchen and an apron collection at the ready.

I love spending time at home. Every spring we plant a large garden. Every fall I'm busy canning tomatoes and green beans. I like to sit on the screened porch in the evening and listen to the tree frogs. I'm content to grab a book and watch the windmill turn. If you visit I'll most likely take you down the trail through the woods to show you our tree farm where we are just beginning to grow more than 200 walnut trees. When I travel, my first choice is to head out west and explore the National Parks. In the winter I love to ice fish with Keith and eat grilled cheese in our shanty. Close to my heart is volunteering as a counselor for teens at Camp Warm Hearts (a grief camp for kids offered by Mid-Michigan Home Care).

I am proud to be a Zontian. I especially love that Zonta raises scholarship money for women who are crafting new lives and fulfilling dreams because as I too have experienced, "Life happens" and doesn't always "Go to plan."

Upcoming Social Meeting Speakers

October 16 Social Meeting—SUBJECT: Human Trafficking

Jane P. White

Ms. White serves as the Director of the Michigan Human Trafficking Task Force and was formerly the Associate Director of the National Center for Community Policing at Michigan State University where she worked with criminal justice agencies nationally and internationally on organizational change and leadership. The Task Force represents some ninety different agencies at the federal, state, and local enforcement level, NGO's, victim service providers, community members, faith-based groups, University of Michigan Trafficking Law Clinic, health care groups, and multiple other interests. Jane started her career as a police officer and then became the Director of the Criminal Justice and Law Center at Lansing Community College and Mid-Michigan Police Academy, where she developed and implemented the largest law enforcement training center in the State. She has served on Foundation Boards, Boys and Girls Club Board of Directors, United Way Board and several criminal justice alliances. She was also appointed by the Governor to the first Correctional Officers' Training Commission and worked extensively with both Police Foundation in Washington DC, and Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement Standards as well as a private consultant.

For the past 4 years, she has worked extensively on Human Trafficking in the United States directing the campaign of anti-slavery work in the state by building a Task Force of over 90 agencies. The goals of the Task Force are to increase collaboration, to build public awareness, to develop information sharing networks, to prosecute offenders, and to establish a protocol of investigation and recovery of victims.

MICHIGAN
HUMAN TRAFFICKING
TASK FORCE

November 20 Social Meeting—SUBJECT: Role of Women in Tribal Council

Marcella Hadden

Ms. Hadden is a member of the Saginaw Chippewa Tribe and is its Public Relations Manager. She has worked for the Tribe for 17 years, both in gaming and government entities. She graduated with an Associates Degree in Business from Northern Michigan University. After graduation she worked for a Marquette law firm for 4 years. In the mid-70s she and her family settled on the Isabella reservation where she has many friends and relatives in the Tribal community.

According to her bio on the Tribe's website, Ms. Hadden considers maintaining "a positive image of the Tribe, its membership, and its government" as a main focus for her department. She believes in being proactive rather than reactive to address areas of concern. Keeping the lines of communication open among Council Administrators, membership, and media outlets using established protocols on media communication fosters a positive image while protecting the Tribe.

Women are extremely influential in the Tribe's leadership and management. Ms. Hadden will be discussing the role of women in today's Native American culture, the changes that have taken place, and the issues facing modern tribal women.

 Zonta International
District 15
Advancing the Status of Women Worldwide

Featured Guest Speakers:

State Representative Joan Bauer

State Representative Joan Bauer is currently serving in her third term as State Representative for the 68th House District. Prior to being elected to the State House, she served on the Lansing City Council for eleven years. Representative Bauer has been a champion for women's issues in the Legislature; she has introduced Pay Equity legislation every term, serves as Co-Chair of the Bi-Partisan, Bi-Cameral Women's caucus, and is a founding member of the House Democratic Women's Caucus. Representative Bauer is a proud former member of the Zonta Club of Lansing.

National playwright and director, Dorteia Sharon

National playwright and director, Dorteia Sharon, teamed up with Vanguard Community Development Corporation to create a documentary focusing on domestic violence. Through a partnership with Zonta Detroit I, young women from Vanguard, took part in the production of "Love is Not a Black Eye," a film centered on the teen violence in domestic relationships.

Ms. Sharon believes the documentary is a power packed tool to combat domestic violence. The documentary displays the warning signs of dangerous relationships, provides support that victims of this abuse are not alone, and tackles how to fight this form of abuse. Zonta Detroit I, is part of an international fellowship of members who are committed to preserving and nourishing women's rights. Their involvement in the documentary brought valuable experience to the film, and especially to the teen girls who helped produce the film.

It is the sincere hope and prayer of Ms. Sharon that everyone that watches this documentary will be moved to help someone get out of a vicious cycle.

Jan Mancinelli is President of the Zonta Club of Petoskey and Executive Director of the Women's Resource Center of Northern Michigan Inc. in Petoskey.

Jan has over 30 years with the Women's Resource Center in Petoskey and in that time she has touched the lives of countless women and their children in Northern Michigan.

She has dedicated her career to ending violence against women in Michigan and currently serves as the local women's center's executive director.

Jan will discuss a documentary on how women are "misrepresented" in the media.

The documentary ties in all of the misrepresentation to attitudes and how women are socialized and how men are taught to view them. It also ties into all of the violence against women, how eating disorders are rampant and growing with young girls etc...It was showcased last fall in the debut of the Oprah network and released to the public shortly after.

Why Attend District Conference?

- * WE ARE THEIR VOICE! Enhance your awareness of critical issues affecting women.
- * TOGETHER WE WILL SUCCEED! Enhance your knowledge about women and leadership and women who have made major contributions to their communities.
- * STRENGTH IN NUMBERS! Receive valuable information for club service projects and operations, and have an opportunity to meet and network with Zontians from clubs throughout the district.

You'll Wanna Zonta!

Historic 803 West Ellsworth

Our historical home this year, was built in 1894 and is the first home of the Pardee family. It was originally located on Main Street and has since been moved to its current location. Right from the front door, you'll see the abundant use of oak woodwork and glass throughout the home including the swinging door into the kitchen. Don't forget to look above the door as you enter the dining room. The 12' ceilings on the first floor give all of the rooms the feeling of spaciousness. As you walk up the oak staircase, you'll feel like you've been transported in time as the owners have tried to maintain the historic value of the home. Take special note of several unique decorative pieces direct from China and the many needlepoint items stitched by the owner. A true Midland landmark, you'd never guess that during one phase of this homes' life, it was divided into apartments!

As you enter through the custom-made front door and you observe the light fixture in the foyer, you'll know you've entered a uniquely designed and decorated home. With a European flavor throughout, you'll quickly see why this Greystone home, built in 2011, is a "must stop" on this year's tour. Take note of the use of specialty woods for the floors and kitchen cabinets. As you cross the second floor bridge hallway, be sure to view the stainless cable stair rail and openness of the first floor from above. But, don't stop there. The lower level is ideal for entertaining with a galley kitchenette and walk-out to the patio. Too cold for outdoor entertaining? Stay inside and watch a movie in the Theatre room, complete with recessed projector, built-in screen and comfortable recliner seating. This home has all the comforts, and then some!

Imagine a warm fire in the massive stone fireplace with a wood mantel that rises all the way to the vaulted ceiling in the living room. As you pass from room to room, be sure to look up and see the use of paneled, transom windows throughout the home. Built in 2010 by Greystone Homes, you'll find the use of color on the walls that makes each room not only unique, but warm and inviting. The gorgeous oak floors and cherry cabinetry blend beautifully with the granite countertops in the eat-in kitchen. If that's not enough, the built-in desk and island make this kitchen more than functional. With over 2500 sq. ft., this three bedroom home, offers a roomy but cozy respite, especially when visiting the bonus room found by an open staircase.

Cape Cod/Country

2040 North 5 Mile

Everything from the flooring to the upholstery to the wainscoting says, "comfortable, country living" in this great addition to this year's Homewalk. You'll see special touches in the entry, which is open to the second floor, all of the built-in cabinets, bookshelves and desk in the den and the two toned oak flooring in the dining room. This kit home, constructed by the owners in 1988, certainly shows personality and family tradition right down to the handmade quilts in the upstairs bedrooms. Add the heavily treed lot and you find yourself leaving the daily hassle behind and replaced by serenity and comfort.

4420 NORTH TUSUMI COURT

Nestled on a beautiful 2 1/2 acre lot and built in 1995, this 4000 + sq. ft. home opens to vaulted ceilings and maple floors and an abundance of windows providing natural light throughout the home. Visitors will find several unique pieces of a southwestern motif in the living room, foyer and the Arizona bedroom upstairs. This home also features many built-ins, including an entertainment center and desks, but most impressive is the "gift wrapping station" in the lower level. The first floor master bedroom includes a double step tray ceiling, a raised sitting room, his and her walk-in-closets and en suite master bath that has just recently been totally remodeled.

There's no wonder that several areas of this home have been featured in magazines! As you are welcomed through the glass front door you immediately see the attention to detail in the design and construction of this home, built in 2008 by Wright Builders. With more than 3,250 sq. ft. of indoor living space, the floor plan showcases the custom kitchen that is open to the living room both overlooking the multi level deck that descends to the paver patio walk-out. As you travel through this home pay attention to the unique details that include the French doors to the music room, the light fixture in the dining room the Heat & Glo fireplace, the island range hood exhaust, the non-traditional wash basins and the built-in bar in the lower level. Don't miss this one!
