Red Dirt Road Revisited

“Change the world. One stitch at a time. One Woman at a time.” That’s the message Laura Wolak shared at the October dinner meeting. Laura, a Senior Strategic Marketing Manager at Dow Chemical, updated ZCoM members on the progress of the Red Dirt Road project she co-founded. Along with Marie Eckstein and Alan Lightman of the Harpswell Foundation, Laura began Red Dirt Road to empower young women in Cambodia by providing them business and sewing skills to create, market, and sell handmade designs.

Hab Saly, a young, determined woman in a small village, Tramung Chrum, conveyed her dream of creating a local sewing business so women wouldn't have to work in sweat shops in Phnom Penh. The three founders of Red Dirt Road made it happen with funding from the Harpswell Foundation. Using foot-powered sewing machines the 8 women in the small business make handmade shawls, handbags, scarves, and clothing. Most of the fabrics used are silk, but cotton and polyester can be found in some of the creations.

Laura reported that there are over 500,000 women working from dawn to dusk in sweatshops in the Cambodian garment industry. They live in squalid conditions and earn only $70/month. The women working at Red Dirt Road earn twice as much in half the time.

Laura explained that there are 14 million people in Cambodia today and 90% live in rural areas. The annual income is only $500/person. In 2005 only 1% of the population had a college education; that figure is forecasted to rise to 5% by 2015.

Congratulations to Our New Area 4 Director!

ZCoM's own Lisa Hulbert was elected Area 4 Director at the District 15 Fall Conference held October 18-20 at Bay Valley Resort. On Friday evening all candidates had 3 minutes to sway voters. Area 4 was the only one to have 2 candidates running for the position, so Lisa enjoined some of the ZCoM members to supply one-word attributes describing her. “Loyal, kind, friendly, sincere” were just some of the adjectives shouted out.

On Saturday the votes were cast and Lisa was victorious! She will serve a two-year term representing an area stretching from northern Detroit metro suburbs north-west to Midland. (See related story on Page 5)

President's Message from Cathy Budd

Eight years ago I decided to get involved with a service organization for two reasons - the chance to give back and the opportunity to interact with other like-minded women in the community. This month's activities have been a wonderful reminder of what an incredible impact we have on those less fortunate both within our community and internationally.

Your generosity in October to help others in the community was very heart-warming to see. Donations to the Shelterhouse resale store filled several carloads and 66 handbags were collected for Handbags for Hope. Across all clubs within District 15, 3510 handbags were donated setting up Handbags for Hope with more handbags than they typically collect within a year!

I was reminded of how far reaching Zonta's generosity is felt worldwide from Jacquie Gudmundsen's presentation on the service projects funded by the Zonta International Foundation. As a club we have pledged $4,383 in 2013/2014 to support ZIF's projects. Thru the creativity and ingenuity of our Fellowship Committee, we were able to increase our level of giving at the district conference. Our Fellowship committee designed, planned and hosted the Friday Fun Night with entertainment provided by "Empty Canvas". The live auction of their interactive painting generated $720 that was donated on behalf of the Midland club to the Zonta International Foundation.

With our collective enthusiasm, energy and effort, I am excited to see what else we can accomplish this year!

Future Dinner Meeting Speakers

The January dinner meeting will feature Dr. Todd Thomas, a Northwood professor teaching management in the MBA program at the DeVos Graduate School of Management. Recommended by Nancy Barker, Todd will be speaking to us about differences in generations. Nancy heard him give this presentation before and said that it is well done, humorous and very helpful for everyone who is working with people between the ages of 20 and 60.

"Leading the Generations" looks at the differences and similarities in the four generations represented in our current active workforce and the necessity for bridging the gaps between them.

"Simple Solutions for Staying Sharp," developed by Brainworks, is the topic for the March 2014 dinner meeting. The Board of Directors selected this topic from several program options proposed by Megan Granda. Jim Wiaduck with the Advisor Solutions Group at Janus will be presenting the program developed by Dr. Heidi Hanna.

The promotional material about this presentation states, "Daily mental multitasking and our constant state of "busyness" can create a chronic level of stress on our brain, causing us to be unfocused, distracted, and less productive. What's more, research suggests that age-related cognitive decline—characterized by a decrease in the brain's ability to perform regular functions like judgment, reasoning, memory, learning and language—begins in healthy, educated adults in their 20s and 30s."

The program will present ways to increase brain fitness, mental acuity, and retention while reducing brain stress. Sign me up!

With 1 in 5 girls sold into prostitution, Red Dirt Road and Harpswell are preventing that from happening to young women in Tramung Chrum.

In addition to supporting Red Dirt Road, the Harpswell Foundation built two dormitories for women to stay in while they attend school in Phnom Penh. Universities in Cambodia do not provide housing for female students. The Harpswell dormitories are safe, clean environments where women can realize their potential. According to Harpswell, “At the end of two years, our students were first in their class at 3 out of the 5 top universities in Cambodia.”

Laura presented a slide show showing the red dirt roads of Cambodia. She said that the seamstresses participating in the program can “travel the red dirt roads with their heads held high.” Throughout the year, sewing books and fashion ideas are sent to Hab Saly to help the women “westernize” their designs to improve sales outside Cambodia. Laura explained that most of the fabric used comes from local markets and is handwoven silk. She invited members to come up after the meeting to examine some of the products and make purchases.

In closing, Laura suggested that we check out the website: reddirtroad.co. Note that it’s not .com, but .co. She announced that there would be a sale of more items at Blessed Sacrament’s Social Hall and gym on November 10th from 9 am to 1 pm.

Zonta Zing! With an Italian Accent

Fresh herbs, spices, private-label olive oils and vinegars combined in a cooking demonstration that results in delectables we get to sample....what could be better? The next Zonta Zing will be at Mercato di O & V in downtown Midland on November 13th and 14th at 6:30 pm. Two nights are planned so more Zontians can participate.

Recipes will be prepared table-side using the vinegars, oils, sea salt and herbs sold in the store. Mercato di O & V is known for its Bacon Joy, which can be used to perk up baked beans, potato salad, spinach salad, deviled eggs, burgers, and on and on. Products will be sold at a 15% discount the nights of the demonstration.

The cost of this event is $20 and at least 8 reservations have to be filled each night in order to make it happen. Please RSVP to Susan Hammer at shammer@bolgerandbattle.com. Buona sera!

International Foundation: Helping Women in 37 Countries

Jacquie Gudmundsen

What is the difference between Zonta International and the ZI foundation (ZIF)? Why do we give? How can I give? These are some of the questions Jacquie Gudmundsen, District 15 Foundation Ambassador, answered for Midland Zontians and guests at the October dinner meeting. With years of experience as a Zontian (currently a member of the Pontiac-North Oakland club), a club officer, District 15 board member, and International Director, Jacquie presented a thorough look at the International Foundation and its programs for the 2012-2014 biennium which include:

- International Service Program ($2,000,000 USD)
- Elimination of New Pediatric HIV Infection and Response to Survivors of Domestic and Gender-based Violence in Rwanda
- Liberia Fistula Program
- Zonta International Strategies to End Violence Against Women, ZISVAW ($1,162,000 USD)
 - Safe Cities for Women Project in Honduras
 - Empowering Women in Rural Samoa to Combat Violence
 - Mass Communication with a Purpose: Global Partnership on Edutainment for Social Change

ZI's impact on these UNICEF-administered programs has been significant. Since 1998, Burkina Faso has experienced a 49% reduction in female genital mutilation; Nepal was declared free of maternal and neonatal tetanus in 2005; in Afghanistan, 4 million women have been immunized against neonatal tetanus; Rwanda will see its first HIV-free generation born in 2015.

Other issues addressed by Zonta International efforts have included:

- Acid burning (Cambodia, Nepal, Uganda)
- Disaster Relief (Haiti, Sri Lanka)
- Economic Survival (Bolivia, Liberia, Niger)
- Education (Afghanistan)
- Female Genital Mutilation (Burkina Faso)
- HIV/Aids (Niger/Rwanda)
- Human Trafficking (Bosnia, Croatia, Herzegovina, Montenegro, Serbia, Thailand)
- Obstetric Fistula (Liberia, Ethiopia)
- Safe Cities (El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras)
- Neonatal Tetanus Vaccination (Afghanistan, Nepal)

The International Foundation's fundraising goal for the biennium is $4,938,000 to fund these projects through club contributions, individual contributions, and planned gifts. District 15 hopes to see 100% of clubs and 15% of individual members donate to ZIF with more clubs showing 100% of members donating as individuals. Jacquie says that as of August 31st, we have raised about 56% of our goal and more is needed. Zontians can give individually with cash, check, credit card, or wire transfer using forms available online at www.zonta.org. Recurring gifts, tribute gifts, employer matches, gifts of stock and planned gifts are also appreciated.

Finally, Jacquie reviewed the ZI scholarship programs:

- Amelia Earhart Fellowship Program (35 awards were given to women from 19 countries)
- Jane M. Klausman Women in Business Scholarship Program (314 awards to women from 44 countries)
- Young Women in Public Affairs Award (637 awards to women from 50 countries)

Zonta makes a difference in a time when violence against women is rampant, human trafficking is thriving, equal pay for equal work does not exist, and women do not have equal opportunity to education, health care, income generation, and basic security.

District 15 Fall Conference Creates Memories for ZCoM

Hosted by the Fenton and Flint 1 Zonta Clubs, the 2013 Fall Conference at Bay Valley Resort and Conference Center in Bay City the weekend of October 18-20 saw the Zonta Club of Midland highlighted throughout the conference.

The Friday evening business meeting was opened by Governor Karen Armaly. After a welcome speech by Tom Hickner, Bay County Executive, the formal meeting continued with introductions and roll call of delegates. A video greeting from Zonta International President Lynn McKenzie reviewed the impact Zonta has around the world and the initiatives ZI promotes.

Then, each candidate up for election was granted 3 minutes to introduce themselves and present her platform. The Zonta Club of Midland had quite a contingent present who provided vocal moral support for Lisa Hulbert who was running for Area 4 Director. Cynthia Chilcote was appointed clock-watcher and held everyone to the allotted time.

Midland was highlighted in "Zee Facts" for winning the Zonta International Award for $20,000 in contributions to ZI as a result of our successful Homewalk. Other ZCoM impacts mentioned were Shelterhouse Christmas, Literacy Council's Dessert Party, and the assembly of birthing kits.

ZCom and the Saginaw club sponsored Friday Fun Night and introduced Empty Canvas to District 15 Zontians. Scott and Mike McMath sang, joked, and painted for over an hour. Drafting Zontians to add splashes of color, paint trees, and fill in the background, Mike completed a work of art depicting a backyard garden heading into fall. As with other Empty Canvas events, the painting was auctioned. The winning bid was $1020 by Chris Ratcliffe. $720 was donated to ZI Foundation.

Lisa and Patty collecting names for Michigan gift baskets

Lisa Miner and Patty Carlson of the Fellowship Committee greeted everyone as they entered the room and had them put their names in a bowl to win gift baskets. Throughout the evening, names were drawn and baskets full of Michigan goodies were handed out to the winners.

The following morning the business of the conference continued with voting for the candidates for directorships and board positions. As reported on Page 1, Lisa Hulbert was elected Area 4 Director. Congratulations, Lisa!

After the elections a keynote address by Elizabeth Donovan from the Ava Maria School of Law in Naples, FL, discussed human trafficking. During the Status of Women Luncheon, attendees were introduced to the District's two Amelia Earhart Fellowship winners, Ph.D. candidates from University of Michigan, Julie Prinnet and Kimberly Trent. The afternoon's keynote address by Carol Ryan, a national advocate for the Amber Alert Program, focused on her teenaged daughter's abduction and successful return.

The conference concluded on Sunday with a reminder that next year's Fall Conference will be at the Otsego Club in Gaylord. The theme will be "Colors of Zonta."

Trafficking in Michigan

Michigan State Senator Judy Emmons will address the issue of human trafficking

7:00 pm, Tuesday, November 19
Griswold Center, Northwood University

Human trafficking is described as modern-day slavery. Michigan has significant exposure to this problem because of the state's international borders and waterways.

Trafficking is prevalent around the world, and has been reported in all 50 states of the United States. Hundreds of thousands of US citizens, minors and adults, are estimated to be at risk of commercial sexual exploitation or forced labor.

Following the presentation, there will be an opportunity for refreshments and conversation.

This beautiful Craftsman house was built in 2012 by Greystone. The owners have incorporated many special touches into their home, deliberately repurposing items to create an instant at-home feeling. Be sure to look for the vintage teak pillars from India, which they found at an antique fair that have been turned into a unique fireplace mantel as well as a built-in dining room table. The home is full of surprises and fun. From the chandelier in the small bathroom, to the wrought iron staircase railing, to the bar on the lower level, which was built from building leftovers, you'll be inspired to use items in a whole new way after touring this home. Definitely a "must see".

If you feel like this home is familiar, it was featured in the HGTV House Hunter television show this past spring. When the current owners were moving from Florida to Michigan, they knew they wanted a home on the water and signed on with House Hunters who documented their search and choice. Now you can tour the home they chose! It is a home which feels like an "Up North" vacation as soon as you step in the door. The log home, filled with knotty pine right up to the peak of its vaulted ceiling, has amazing views of Sanford Lake which can be seen from just about any room. On the main floor, you'll find a recently remodeled kitchen. The upstairs loft area functions as a home office and guest room. In the lower level, the views again beckon you with a great space created for entertaining at the lake.

Southern elegance and hospitality are waiting on the inside of this 2005 Craftsman, Greystone home. As you enter this home, you're sure to notice the beautiful art glass which greets you at the front door and can be seen again in the dining room windows. Look for the Georgian Blue paint in the den and the unique tobacco cart in the Great Room. The kitchen is truly the heart of this home with cozy chairs by a fireplace welcoming you to relax and chat while meals are being prepared. Don't miss the unique window shapes, sconces and special details like the in-laid stone floor mat in the mudroom.

209 Revere Street

This unique historical home was designed by architect Alden B. Dow in 1934 for Midland mayor Earl Stein and family and was his first residential project in the city. Listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1989, the "mid-century modern" home is full of wonderful color and vibrancy, inviting entertaining. The main floor captures Mr. Dow's attention to detail and creative use of cypress wood, glass and copper. From the colorful furnishings to the fantastic glass collection catching the light in the windows, this home—filled with fanciful holiday decor—is sure to inspire you. The lower level opens to a terraced yard providing even more summer living space. With six bedrooms, the owners lovingly raised their large family here along with many exchange students. Known as "The Taliesin Project", Dow completed plans for 209 Revere while being one of the first Fellows invited to study with Frank Lloyd Wright. Later, Wright visited Midland and photographed the home, sharing Dow's pleasure in the result.

Parking is too narrow on the street where this Victorian Home is located, so be sure to catch the shuttle to this home. The shuttle will drop you off at the base of a stunning wrap-around porch. Take special note of the exterior paint colors and the meticulous upkeep that is required to create such an exquisite residence. Inside, you'll find antiques and collectibles which complement the home well. If it's not an antique, it was probably created by the talented owner who is a furniture builder. Look for cabriole legs along with the ball and claw detail on his pieces. Upstairs, French doors open up to a beautifully appointed master suite where a warm fireplace, an octagon ceiling, and an impressive cherry bed made by the homeowner create a personal retreat.

Kings Daughters
2410 Rodd St

You're invited to relax in the comfort of an Alden Dow designed building with a rich history and heritage. Holiday snacks and beverages courtesy of the King's Daughters Home will be waiting for you. This is a convenient place to gather during Homewalk with friends in a welcoming environment. King's Daughters Home was founded in 1947. By 1954, a bigger facility was needed. Architect Alden B. Dow started drawing plans, and William and Hannah Baker donated a 3.5 acre parcel on the corner of Rodd and Nelson Streets. Mrs. Rollin M. Gerstacker contributed $1 million for the construction of a new building – her only stipulation that a beauty shop be included in the plans. On October 11, 1959, the present King's Daughters Home was dedicated. Come enjoy this rich part of our Midland heritage where more than 50 years later they remain dedicated to their values of consistent care, quality and comfort.
